Wage-Price Controls Eased; Wrong Tax Cut

The story broke just at press-time Thursday but The Star squeezed in a bulletin—

President Nixon has abolished mandatory wage-price controls except for the food and health industries.

This checks the battle against inflation to business, the people, and the Congress. Business is expected to police a self-administering system keyed to government economic standards; the people are cautioned against prodigal spending—and, finally, Congress has the responsibility of cutting down on federal spending, which is the No. 1 villain in the inflation picture.

Already there are gloomy protests on Capitol Hill because Nixon has slashed many federal programs and actually cut out some.

But if the Congress will restudy last November's election returns it will learn that Nixon is only doing the job for which the people re-elected him.

The people gave the Democratic Congress the benefit of the doubt and re-elected it to the majority position last November. But if it doesn't meet Nixon's cost-cutting program halfway there'll be some brand new faces on Capitol Hill in 1975.

What else could you expect of a people whose federal debt is now marching on $400 billion?

Editors write, but what they write isn't required reading for state legislators.

Thursday's AP legislative report brought us the news that Sen. Knox Nelson of Pine Bluff, inspired by Arkansas' surplus of $100 million tax money, has introduced a bill to cut the state income tax 5 per cent on returns for 1973 and 1974.

Only a few days ago this editor protested a pre-session statement of the senator's intention. It appeared to us that when the General Assembly in 1971 raised income taxes and extended the sales tax to auto and shoe repair and the labor therein, that repeal of the sales tax extension should have priority, being an unfair burden on the poorer class of citizens.

Sen. Nelson doesn't subscribe to The Star, but I know he got the message because it was reprinted in his home town by the Pine Bluff Commercial.

What's that you said about "the power of the press"? I didn't hear you.

I still don't hear you.

Prices on beef, pork may go up

By DON KENDALL

AP Farm Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Led by beef and pork, supermarket food prices are expected to keep climbing through mid-1973 despite Nixon administration moves putting millions of farm acres back to work.

Including earlier reductions in the amount of land required to be idle for feed grains and cotton, the Agriculture Department has permitted farmers to increase crops by at least 30 million acres from 1972.

But Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz told a news conference Thursday that the latest action—cancellation of "set-aside" land requirements for 1973 wheat—will have little effect on retail food prices in the next six months.

Earlier this week, Don Paarlberg, USDA director of economics, said retail food prices would keep rising at last year's annual rate of 4.5 per cent through mid-1973.

Looking at the (little) snowfall

The light dusting of snow that fell on the Hope area Wednesday night did not provide much opportunity to build gigantic snowmen, although several reports of snow-midgels did filter into the Star office. However, this youngster, like many others in Hope, found that a little snow deserved a lot of attention.

Kindergarten bill is introduced in House and Senate

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The administration's bill to establish a public school kindergarten program was introduced Thursday in both the Arkansas Senate and House.

Also introduced was a companion appropriation bill that would provide $10.1 million during the next biennium to finance the program.

State Rep. B. D. "Doug" Brandon of Little Rock introduced a new city-county state aid bill in an attempt to head off a stalemate that he said could endanger a highway construction program.

Brandon's bill would give the cities and counties $18 million in each of the next two fiscal years, considerably less than what they want. The figure, however, would be a 50 per cent increase over what they currently receive in state aid.

The cities and counties are seeking 7 per cent of the state's general revenues, which would total between $25 million and $30 million a year, according to current revenue projections.

Bumpers has said he could not consider a road program until the city-county issue is settled because the request for the 7 per cent would have a direct bearing on budgets for all programs.

"Unless we get the city-count issue over, we're going to lose the road program," Brandon told newsmen Thursday.

He said the "longer we wait" the greater are the chances that the state's $18.3 million in annual revenue sharing funds that he wants to use for highways will be spent for other programs.

Bumpers has said he is studying Brandon's proposal for using the revenue sharing funds and a one-cent increase in the per gallon tax on gasoline to finance road construction. The governor has said the plan has merit.

Rep. H. Woody Clark of Forrest City introduced a bill to reduce state income tax rates on all but the first $3,000 of net taxable income. His bill proposed rates of 2 1/4 per cent on the second $3,000, 3 1/4 per cent on the next $3,000, 4 1/4 per cent on the next $6,000, 5 1/4 per cent on the next $10,000 and 6 per cent on all additional taxable income.

The reductions on taxable income from $3,000 to $15,000 would one-fourth of a per cent. The reduction on net taxable income of $15,000 to $25,000 would be a half per cent and the reduction on taxable income above $25,000 would be one per cent.

A bill introduced by Rep. Roger Logan of Harrison would exempt from the state sales tax prescription drugs purchased by persons over the age of 65.

Clark also introduced a bill to prohibit the use of materials from outside the country in the construction of projects in Arkansas financed in full by state funds.

Rep. Paul Meers of Little

Rock introduced a bill to permit school districts to operate on a quarterly rather than semester basis subject to a vote of school district patrons and approval by the state Board of Education.

Logan also introduced a bill to establish the state Apiary Board as an independent state agency. The board was made a subagency of the Department of Commerce under the 1971 governmental reorganization act.

Reps. Henry Wilkins III of Pine Bluff and Julian Street of Camden introduced a measure to delete the terms "black," "colored," "Negro race" or "maulattoes" from state laws prohibiting mixed marriage, assigning bus seating, regulating teacher contracts, providing for attendance at blind and deaf schools and provisions of more than a dozen other acts, some of which date back to 1867.

Van Dalsem: Trying to make amends

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Rep. Paul Van Dalsem of Perryville decided Thursday against seeking ratification of the federal women's rights amendment in the Arkansas House because he said the House was "too uneasy."

Van Dalsem claims to have the necessary votes for the ratification.

The action was his first brush with floor activity since returning to the House from a six-year absence following his defeat in a 1966 campaign in which he said women in his county were kept "barefoot and pregnant" to keep them out of politics.

Van Dalsem has said he is handling the equal rights amendment to apologize for the remark.

Legislative sources said a reason some House members were uneasy was that Van Dalsem had angered several legislators earlier in the day in helping persuade the Education Committee to delay a vote on the administration's bill to provide free textbooks in the upper four grades of the public schools. The committee will consider the measure again Tuesday.

It was reported that the angry representatives planned to attempt to sidetrack the women's rights amendment into the Judiciary Committee if Van Dalsem brought it up.

Unexpected lifting of wage-prices has set off reactions

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's unexpected lifting of most mandatory wage-price controls already has set off reactions ranging from a stock market surge to dire predictions of a price crunch on wage-earners.

Nixon Thursday abolished the tight mandatory controls except in the food and health industries, along with most of the government machinery for enforcing them. He set up instead a system of voluntary guidelines and asked Congress to extend the standby control authority, expiring April 30, so that the government could move in quickly to halt excessive increases.

In a nutshell, Phase 3 of the Nixon economic program provides that prices may be raised, but the increase should not exceed the increase in costs; wages may be increased without government approval, but for the present, raises are expected to be kept within the 5.5-per-cent guideline in effect since November 1971.

The old Phase 2 standards will be retained for processors and retailers of food, and for doctor, dentist and hospital bills. Those two areas have seen some of the biggest price increases.

In Chicago, Dr. John R. Kernodle, board chairman of the American Medical Association, said Phase 3 discriminates against the health-care professions. He said there is a possibility of "a flight of allied, ancillary and support personnel from the health field."

The aim of Phase 3, Nixon said, is to cut the inflation rate to 2.5 per cent or less by the end of the year—to keep fighting inflation until the "impact is felt at the local supermarket or corner grocery store."

Except in the reserved areas, large business and labor unions will no longer have to get advance approval for wage and price rises. The looser mandatory controls over construction wage increases also were retained and the President said voluntary efforts to hold down interest rates will continue.

The stock market took off on the announcement, pushing the Dow Jones industrial index 15.35 points above the previous day before settling down for a 5.64-point gain to a new closing high of 1051.70.

Analysts said expectation of higher profits steamed up the market.

But critics in Congress, most of them Democrats, said they fear a surge of inflation that will push prices up faster than wages.

Chairman Wright Patman, D-Tex., of the House Banking Committee predicted Congress "will make its own independent judgement" as to the terms on which control authority is extended. He said the committee, where the control legislation originated, will begin extensive hearings on the whole stabilization program in about two weeks.

Nixon's move is a gamble, Patman said.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., said now is not the time to end controls and "there is considerable doubt in my mind that, under these new circumstances without mandatory controls, the Congress will be interested in extending the Economic Stabilization Act at all."

However, other Republicans, including the minority leaders of both chambers, Rep. Gerald R. Ford of Michigan and Sen. Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania, praised the move as in the interest of free enterprise. They said the success of earlier administration measures speaks well for the future.

Rep. Ben Rosenthal, D-N.Y., author of a number of consumer-interest bills, called Nixon's Phase 3 plan "inherently outrageous and discriminatory against the working men and women." He argued the government will be able to hold down wages but lacks machinery to hold down prices.

But Price Commission Chairman C. Jackson Grayson told newsmen "I do not believe we will have an explosion" of inflation.

AFI-CIO President George Meany, who earlier resigned from the now-abolished Pay Board in protest against what he called inequity, was named with other union leaders and industrialists to a new labor-management advisory committee. That panel will decide whether the current 5.5-per-cent ceiling on wage increases should be modified in the new guidelines.

Meany called Nixon's move a step in the right direction.

Nixon abolished the Pay Board and Price Commission

but retained the Cost of Living Council to administer the new, largely voluntary, program.

As its new head, he named John T. Dunlop, dean of arts and sciences at Harvard University and author of several books on economics and labor arbitration.

New rules at a glance

WASHINGTON (AP) — At a glance, here are the new rules that apply to the economy now:

The food and health services industries remain under present controls. Otherwise:

—Businesses can raise prices without prior government approval, but they are expected to follow voluntary standards. They must be prepared to justify their price increases with legitimate costs. And they must keep their profit margins to the average of the best two of the last four fiscal years.

—The Cost of Living Council says it will step in and enforce the voluntary standards if it finds violators. But the extent of the enforcement is not known yet. The Internal Revenue Service will monitor wages and prices.

—Wages can go up without government approval. But a 5.5 per cent voluntary standard is expected to be followed.

—Large companies and large unions are expected to make quarterly reports to the government on price and wage changes and profit margins. These are firms with $250 million or more in annual sales and employ units with 5,000 or more workers.

—The next layer of companies and unions, those with annual sales of between $50 million and $250 million and with between 1,000 and 5,000 workers, are required to keep records of wage and price increases.

Jones case may bring state action

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The conviction of state Sen. Guy H. "Mutt" Jones of Conway on federal income tax charges has prompted at least one state official to wonder whether state action might be in order.

Nothing has been done, at least not yet.

"It has crisscrossed our minds," said Walter Skelton, assistant director for revenues.

But he said nothing had been initiated yet.

'I've done what I can' to end the VN war

SAIGON (AP) — The B-52 commander who refused to fly combat missions has written his senator and says, "I hope Congress can do what they can to end the war. I've done what I can."

Capt. Michael J. Heck, 30, of Chula Vista, Calif., says he wrote Sen. John V. Tunney, D-Calif., on Thursday.

"I informed him of the situation, and told him what has happened, my views on the war," said Heck. "I thought he might take an interest and he might be able to do some good. He might use his influence to push congressional action to stop the thing. It might be of interest that somebody else had decided to end the war."

"I thought I might make somebody on that level aware of what was going on."

Heck said he had never met Tunney but wrote to him "because I've been much in agreement with the comments I've heard him make."

The B-52 pilot is now performing administrative duties at his base in southern Thailand while the Air Force decides whether to court-martial him, approve his resignation or approve his application to be classified a conscientious objector, which is tantamount to discharge from the service.

If tried and convicted on the charge of failure to obey an order to fly a combat mission, Heck could receive two years in prison.

His letter of resignation is going through military channels to Washington.

Heck flew his last B-52 mission, his 175th of the war, on Christmas Eve at the height of the aerial blitz against Hanoi and Haiphong. Then he refused to fly any more. He is the first American pilot known to have refused to go into combat in the Vietnam war.

Presidential appointees face rejection unless they pledge to give testimony

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen-ate Democrats, out to convince

President Nixon they mean business about reasserting the constitutional rights of Con-gress, have told presidential appointees they face rejection unless they pledge to return for testimony when called.

Even before the resolution was enacted unanimously Thursday, Finance Committee Democrats obtained such a pledge from Caspar W. Weinberger, named as the next secretary of health, education and welfare.

Rogers and presidential aide Henry Kissinger to explain the Vietnam situation to the Foreign Relations Committee, and the impounding of billions of dollars of appropriated funds for domestic projects.

Mansfield said after Thursday's caucus that he hopes the resolution, though not binding would indicate "our feelings and our intentions." Sen. Gale McGee, D-Wyo., said he favors even stronger action. He said if the administration continues to impound appropriated funds without adequate explanation, Congress should refuse to receive its budget requests "until the Cabinet officials of this administration come up on the Hill and give us an accounting of why they have completely ignored the will of Congress."

'Shield law' proposed

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Rep. Steve Smith of Huntsville said Thursday he planned to introduce bills next week to increase newsmen's protection against being required to reveal confidential sources.

Smith said he had reviewed the state's existing "shield law" and found it to be "ineffective and rather vague."

One of his proposals will be patterned after a measure that has been introduced in Congress. The other is similar to a model "shield" law.

Smith said he favored the bill patterned after the federal proposal because its language was more specific and left the courts "less leeway for construction."

That bill establishes two procedural safeguards as "threshold determinations" before compelling testimony that would reveal the identity of news sources.

The first would be to demonstrate that there is probable cause to believe a crime has been committed and that the testimony sought is directly relevant to a "central issue in that criminal allegation, thereby limiting so-called 'fishing expeditions'."

The second requirement is that it would have been to be shown that no reasonable alternative for obtaining the information is available.

The other bill says that certain conditions must be satisfied before a member of the news media could be required to divulge information or the source of any information.

Under the proposal, a person would have to prove in Circuit Court that there was probable cause to believe that the information sought is "clearly relevant to a specific probable violation of law," demonstrate that the information could not be obtained by alternate means, and show that there was a compelling and over-riding public interest in having the information.

Current state law provides that before a newsman can be required to divulge to a grand jury or any other authority the source of any information "used as the basis for any article he may have written, published or broadcast," it must be "clear" that the article was written or broadcast in bad faith, with malice and "not in the interest of the public welfare."

Kissinger lied: McG

BOSTON (AP) — Sen. George McGovern says he thinks presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger lied when he told the nation on Oct. 26 that "peace is at hand" in Vietnam, the Boston Globe reported today.

The newspaper said the 1972 Democratic presidential nominee made the assertion Thursday at a luncheon with Globe editors. McGovern was in Boston with his wife to accompany their daughter, Mary, to an interview at Radcliffe College, where she has applied for admission next fall.

Earlier Thursday McGovern met with some 300 campaign workers at a downtown hotel and drew cheers when he told them, "Needless to say, Massachusetts is first in my heart." McGovern carried only Massachusetts and the District of Columbia in the November election.

McGovern told the Globe editors that Kissinger's "peace is at hand" was a final factor in his defeat 12 days later.

"Of course I don't know," he said, "but I can only tell you that when Kissinger told the country on Oct. 26 that peace was at hand and only a few small details remained, I think he was lying."

"I think that he knew that the President and Gen. Thieu (South Vietnam President Nguyen Van Thieu) were not about to accept the agreement which he had tentatively reached with Hanoi."

Kissinger, Tho meet

By MICHAEL GOLDSMITH

Associated Press Writer

PARIS (AP) — Henry A. Kissinger and Le Duc Tho met today for the fifth time in their intensive new round of secret peace talks.

President Nixon's chief foreign policy adviser and the North Vietnamese Politburo member have held lengthy meetings every day this week, alternating between a Communist villa in Gif sur Yvette and an American house in St. Nom la Bretache, both residential suburbs southwest of Paris.

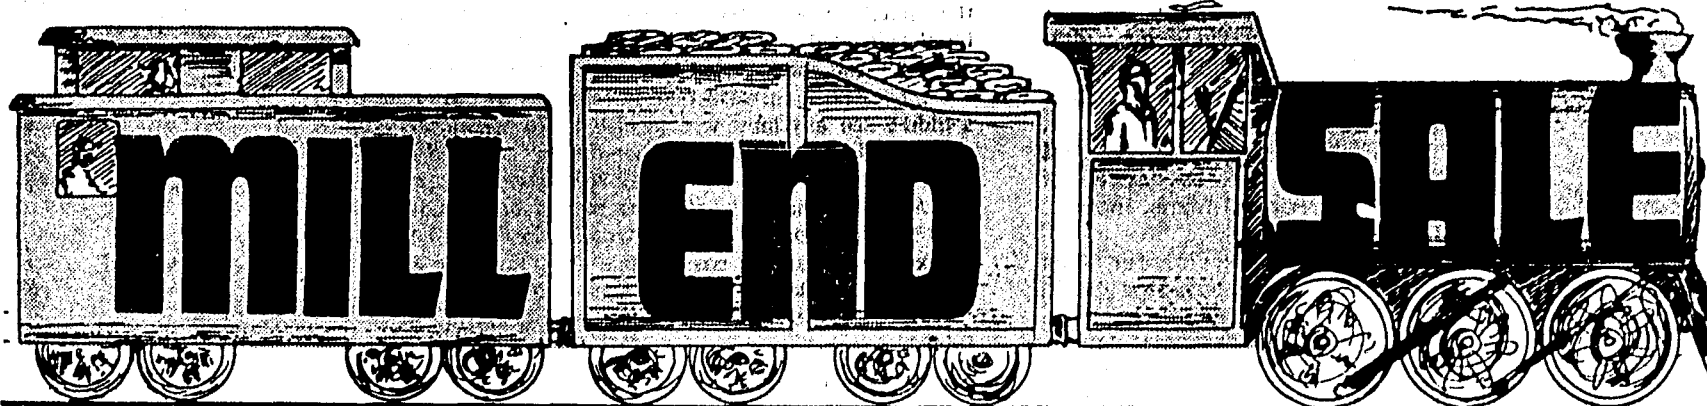

Today's meeting was on Communist ground.

Dense fog and a thin layer of new snow delayed the start of the meeting by about 15 minutes. Tho, wearing a fur hat in the bitter cold, waved and smiled to the waiting newsmen as he arrived to host the meeting. Kissinger, arriving a few minutes later, smiled but did not wave.

At the same time, technical experts working on details of the draft agreement that Kissinger and Tho are trying to work out met separately in the American villa. On Thursday for the first time in the current round of negotiations, the experts met with Kissinger and Tho. The meeting lasting for six hours.

This was taken as an indication of some progress, at least on parts of an agreement. However, informed sources said some basic points remain in dispute.

Both sides maintained their mutually agreed news blackout. In Hanoi, the North Vietnamese Foreign Ministry issued a statement accusing the United States.

Get Dad out of bed and to a counselor

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1973 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have been married for 17 years. We have one child—a 16-year-old son who has slept with his daddy since he was born.

Of course, when the boy got old enough to notice things I moved to another bed, but my husband wouldn't let the boy sleep by himself, and to this day our son goes to sleep in his daddy's arms.

The only attention I get is at two or three o'clock in the morning when Daddy can slip out of bed for a little while. [Sometimes it's four to six months before Daddy can slip out of bed.]

Our son is in high school now, and I keep telling my husband that this is abnormal. He says it's not. The boy makes very good grades so maybe I am worrying for nothing. Can this ruin our son? Please advise me.

WORRIED

DEAR WORRIED: Congratulations on your son's grades, but there are other aspects to be considered here. It is NOT normal for a father and son to fall asleep in each other's arms nightly for 16 years. [A man and his wife normally sleep that way.] Your local Family Service Association or Mental Health Association can provide you, your husband, and son with excellent counseling. I urge you to seek their help. You may have to blaze the trail and go alone, but don't let that discourage you.

DEAR ABBY: You are right, but only partially. In the U. S. A. people equate fat with ugly and thin with beauty. However, in the South American countries the opposite is true.

When I was a child living in Bolivia [my parents were missionaries] my mother was constantly told, "Senora would be very beautiful if she would put on some weight."

My mother was beautiful by American standards, but she was far from thin. J. D. C.

DEAR J. D. C.: Easy on the propaganda for Bolivia! Let the South American preference for hefty get around in overfed U. S. and the stampede south could sink the southern continent!

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I live in a small apartment and have only a dining area adjoining the kitchen.

I had a small dinner party—my husband's boss and his wife, another couple, and us. I had no help, which was no problem as I am well organized.

After the dessert, the boss' wife said, "Oh, let's clear the table." So we three women cleared the table. Then the boss' wife said, "Oh, heck, why don't we do up these few dishes?" And she sounded like she really meant it.

Since the men were talking business in the other room I didn't see anything wrong with it, so we three laughed and talked and did up the dinner dishes. Then we joined the men. Everyone seemed to have had a wonderful time.

After the guests went home my husband had a fit. He said I should not have let the women do the dishes. I tried to explain it was the boss' wife's idea, but he said I could have [and should have] talked her out of it.

Abby, I still think I did the right thing. What do you think? CAUGHT THE DICKENS

DEAR CAUGHT: I think you did, too.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "NO NAME" IN ILLINOIS: In your state a man convicted of aggravated incest can get from 2 to 20 years in the penitentiary. And a "daughter" means an adopted daughter, stepdaughter, or blood daughter, regardless of legitimacy or age.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L. A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069, for Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions."

Short ribs take thyme plus time

California-style beef short ribs with vegetables still a winner.

By AILEEN CLAIRE
NEA Food Editor

Less-expensive cuts of beef usually require a slow method of cooking to make them more tender. Good meaty beef cuts are the short ribs. Brown first and then simmer slowly. Added later in the cooking are small white potatoes, carrots, celery and onions. The richly flavored stock makes a delightful gravy.

CALIFORNIA-STYLE BEEF SHORT RIBS

3 pounds lean beef short ribs

1 tablespoon butter
1 chopped onion
1 cup chopped celery
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
4 thinly sliced carrots
1/2 teaspoon thyme
1/4 teaspoon sage
Trim fat from ribs. Brown beef in butter in heavy skillet.

Let. While browning add half of onion and celery. When beef is brown cover with remaining vegetables. Sprinkle with salt, pepper, crumbled thyme and sage. Cover closely. Bake in 275-degree oven about 3 hours or until beef is tender. Makes 4 servings. (NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)

Brioche Braid is freezer aged

By AILEEN CLAIRE
NEA Food Editor

Home baking grows in importance as men and women discover they like to express themselves through cooking. A freezer Brioche Braid will keep someone happy in the kitchen preparing it and others happy at the table.

FREEZER BRIOCHE BRAID

5 1/4 to 6 1/4 cups unsifted flour
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 packages active dry yeast
1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup water
3/4 cup corn oil margarine
4 eggs (at room temperature)

1 teaspoon lemon extract
1 egg white
1 tablespoon sugar

In a large bowl thoroughly mix 1 cup flour, 1/2 cup sugar, salt and undissolved active dry yeast.

Combine milk, water and corn oil margarine in a saucepan. Heat over low heat until liquids are very warm (120 to 130 degrees). Margarine does not need to melt. Gradually add to dry ingredients and beat 2 minutes at medium speed of electric mixer, scraping bowl occasionally. Add eggs, lemon extract and 1 cup flour. Beat at high speed 2 minutes scraping bowl occasionally. (or, beat vigorously by hand for same time.) Stir in enough additional flour to make a soft dough. Turn out onto heavily floured board; knead lightly to form a ball. Cover with a towel; let rest 15 minutes.

Divide dough in half. Divide each half into 3 equal pieces. Form each piece into a roll, 12-inches long. Braid 3 rolls together; pinch ends to seal. Repeat with remaining 3 rolls. Place on large greased baking sheet. Cover tightly with plastic wrap; freeze until firm. Transfer to plastic bags. Keep frozen up to 4 weeks.

Remove from freezer. Unwrap and place on ungreased baking sheet. Let stand covered loosely with plastic wrap at room temperature until fully thawed, about 3 hours. Let rise in warm place, free from draft, until double in bulk, about 1 hour and 15 minutes.

Combine egg white and remaining 1 tablespoon sugar; brush mixture on braids. Bake at 350 degrees about 25 minutes or until done. Remove from baking sheets and cool on wire racks. Makes 2. (NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)

DR. LAWRENCE E. LAMB

Running Is Good Exercise

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb—I am a high school athlete and need some answers to questions. Does running five to 10 miles a day on concrete and asphalt hurt the bones and legs in any way? Does drinking a lot of milk (two quarts a day) cause calcium buildup in the knees and be harmful? Does running five to 10 miles a day stunt or postpone growth in any way? I am 16 years old.

Dear Reader—The continual jarring to the ankle and knees while running does cause some wear and tear changes, particularly if unusual positions are involved. Many ballet dancers develop wear and tear type arthritis of the ankles for similar reasons. The baseball pitcher will develop arthritis of his elbow from wear and tear effects of pitching.

If one runs on a softer surface there is less jarring and less wear and tear. Thus a cinder or turf of any sort is probably the best surface to run on. One can become conditioned to running on very hard surfaces, but these surfaces will have more wear and tear effect in the long run. If you are running on a hard surface, you should wear a different type of shoe, one which offers good support to the foot and reasonable sponginess, in contrast to the thin sole for an ordinary track shoe.

A good shoe can go a long way toward minimizing the effects of the concrete surface. Joggers, runners, and long-distance walkers should give more consideration to their footwear than many do.

Drinking milk does not cause calcium buildup in knees. You'd be surprised how many people think that calcium deposits like those seen in arthritis are associated with using too much calcium. The arthritic spurs and buildup of bone that occurs abnormally usually result from destruction of bone, and then when bone is rebuilt, it forms in an abnormal fashion causing spurs of the type seen in various forms of arthritis. This is how the tipping of the vertebrae, so common as the years pass, actually occurs.

The body does a poor job in rebuilding bone structures that have worn away. There is a lot more danger to the bones and teeth from not getting enough calcium rather than too much. I think an inadequate calcium intake is a common fault in many people's diet. One of the best sources of calcium is milk.

Drinking milk is one of your worries you can eliminate completely. I approve of your drinking milk because you need the calcium and it also has a lot of good protein in it. If you want to limit the amount of saturated fat and still drink milk, you might learn to use fortified skim milk, which will serve your purposes very well while decreasing the intake of saturated fat. Some doctors feel that too much saturated fat can contribute to the development of fatty deposits in the arteries which leads to problems later.

Running in no way stunts or postpones growth. It's a good healthy exercise. It helps to build the heart and circulation by proper walking, running and jogging programs. Of course, older people should walk first and have a medical evaluation before embarking on a strenuous program on their own.

Send your questions to Dr. Lamb, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019. For a copy of Dr. Lamb's booklet on losing weight, send 50 cents to the same address and ask for "Losing Weight" booklet. (NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)

NEW YORK (AP) — The Washington Redskins and the Miami Dolphins tangle this Sunday in the Super Bowl on NBC, but this pro football spectacular probably won't be anywhere as gaudy as a pair of commercials that have accompanied televised college football games for the past two seasons.

Bulletin

DETROIT (AP) — Joe Schmidt resigned today as head coach of the Detroit Lions after a frustrating 8-5-1 season which saw the team finish third in the National Football Conference's Central Division.

Commissioner Bowie Kuhn, who presided over the joint meetings and was strongly in favor of the rule change, said he hoped that the new committee which will be named to study interleague play will have a report ready before the two leagues hold another joint meeting next August.

Commissioner Bowie Kuhn, who presided over the joint meetings and was strongly in favor of the rule change, said he hoped that the new committee which will be named to study interleague play will have a report ready before the two leagues hold another joint meeting next August.

Texaco spokesmen, who decline to say how much all this cost the company, said the idea was to produce a sales message linked both to a football half-time and the concept of "trust Texaco."

There were no problems in filming the thing, other than a heavy mist that appeared over the Rose Bowl the first night. It cleared away at 7 p.m. On the second night, the producers were worried about a heavy wind that whipped about the field.

GOODBY TO VAMPIRES WELLINGTON, N.Z. (AP) — The Royal New Zealand Air Force is retiring the last of its 21-year-old Vampire jet fighters.

The Vampires comprised the country's first jet squadron in 1951 and were the mainstay of the Air Force strike force until Canberra light bombers were introduced in 1959.

Vampires remained in an operations role until the Air Force acquired Skyhawks in 1970. They will be completely phased out on arrival of new Strike-master jet training aircraft.

Helen Help Us!

—by Helen Bottel—

The Readers Always Write

DEAR HELEN: I'm sure "Trina's" letter (concerning her husband's funeral instructions) brought much response. How many people sided with him on the simplest of "disposals"? — FOR GETTING IT OVER FAST

DEAR FGIOF: Of several hundred replies to "Trina," exactly three favored traditional, long-drawn-out burial rites. One of these writers was a mortician, one a clergyman, and the third a housewife, who wrote:

DEAR HELEN: So often today we find ourselves asking, "What good does a funeral do, really?" Certainly it doesn't help the deceased, but a funeral does a great deal for knowledge to help the sick and injured.

Isn't this a lot better than a thousand-dollar coffin and a satin pillow I should have had while alive? —KATHERINE, (Age 22)

DEAR HELEN: I'm with Trina's husband who does not want "pagan homage to a dead thing that should be disposed of immediately."

Instead of cremation—which still costs quite a bit more than $100—she should discuss with him the possibility of his joining the Pennsylvania Anatomical Board, or some such organization in their state, whereby immediately on death the person in charge is to call the Board who will make arrangements for having the body picked up immediately for are alive, you don't have to "make it up to them," and if you didn't, a solid gold casket won't compensate.

But people need to grieve. You don't forget after three days, but the period between the death and the funeral or memorial service tells you when to dry your eyes and see the loved ones you have left. It isn't an ordeal inflicted on people to do the deceased honor, but to give solace to those who love him. (Love is present tense—it doesn't stop because the object is gone.) —KARMA

DEAR HELEN: I was shocked that you agree with "Thinking Ahead" (who has left instructions that doctors must turn off the life-those whose bodies are used. —E.B.D.

NOTE TO READERS: In some states, such organizations are called "Humanity Gifts Registry" or "Human Growth Foundations." Local medical associations can furnish more details. —H.

DEAR HELEN: I called a leading crematory in my town and was told that cremation would cost $75 and scattering the ashes at sea another $35, which seemed very reasonable—BUT then they added that it is sometimes difficult to get the necessary death certificate immediately so they prepare the body the same as for a regular funeral, thus the price jumps to over $300. One way or another, they get their pound of flesh. —ELMER G.

DEAR HELEN: I'm in favor of inexpensive, simple arrangements: if you treat people right while they is sacred. It must be preserved, not snuffed out...Don't try to justify mercy death. —M.P.

DEAR M.: Could anthropologist Margaret Mead change your mind? In her book, "Twentieth Century Faith: Hope and Survival," she suggests that people take legal steps to avoid being kept alive in old age as human vegetables. This can be done, she adds, by having a legal statement duly executed while they are still of sound mind.

It appears "Thinking Ahead" and I are in good company. —H.

This column is dedicated to family living so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help YOU. She will also welcome your own amusing experiences. Write to Helen Bottel care of this newspaper.

Business mirror

By JOHN CUNNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — Like thousands of others, you might dream of kicking the 9-to-5 work habit by buying a small motel and settling down to a quiet, comfortable semi-retirement. Beware.

Rather than act on the dream, says Stephen Brenner, you should first ask yourself you might have your dream ahead you might find your dream is a nightmare.

The big mistake made by the uninitiated, says Brenner, who heads the hospitality division of the big Hemsley-Spear real estate empire, is to confuse real estate and retailing.

"A motel is not just real estate; it is a retail operation, like a shoe store," he says. Real estate, such as an apartment house, appreciates in value, he observes, while motels depreciate every year. They require constant renovation.

The apartment house tenant might stay 10 years and never meet the owner. The motel is intensely people-oriented. Customers must be catered to. The product must be merchandised.

Brenner maintains that any motel owner must always fight obsolescence on two fronts: physical and economic. The unrenovated plant might last 20 or 25 years before becoming totally unattractive, but economic aging might be immediate.

The latter can occur when an airport is shut down or a highway bypass is built. Such an eventuality could force the owner to abandon his business or sell it off for the value of the land alone.

As a manager-consultant-investor in motels throughout the country, Brenner has learned first hand how difficult it is to convert a motel to other uses. Like a bowling alley, it is a specialty building.

The owners options are to turn the facility into housing for singles, an addict or health care center, senior citizens housing, a dormitory or training center, or maybe a nursing home if the law allows.

But even without disaster befalling the owner in the form of economic obsolescence, there remains the constant fight to keep the facility modern and attractive.

Now, considering the typical value of $15,000 to $20,000 per room for a good motel with restaurant, or $8,000 to $10,000 for an economy motel, are you still willing to follow your dream?

When they learn these facts, Brenner said, some dreamers decide instead to put their money into motel-hotel stocks. And so, here he intrudes into the dream again.

"These stocks have been badly oversold by Wall Street," he said. In fact, he continued, some analysts have never properly defined the industry, which he maintains is made up of many disparate entities.

"You have companies offering rooms and restaurants. Others have rooms and transportation. Some own their real estate. And others lease properties and manage them. But investors view all as if they're one deal."

Moreover, he continues, the great motel-hotel chains have always thrived on the entrepreneurial spirit of one or a few individuals and their families. Whether the transition can be made to impersonal, corporate management cannot be foreseen at this time.

Another danger: Sometime in the 1980s, Brenner says, the industry must come to grips with the four-day week. Since most depend on commercial business, they could find their occupancy rates down 20 per cent. Still dreaming?

Boyleing it down

NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks a plumber gets tired of hearing:

"You plumbers are getting like doctors — you hate to make house calls anymore."

"Sam Turnjoint, the only difference between me and Joe James is that I can find my way home."

"As your physician, Sam, I suggest we use a little common sense in our business relations. Remember, I can raise my fees too."

"Just because I flunked you out of high school your first year, Sam, you're not going to refuse to come and fix my leaky toilet, are you? Please Sam, your old teacher needs you. Can't we let bygones be bygones?"

"You say you want Sam, my son, the plumber? Can you call back later, please? He's in consultation now."

"Why is it you always forget some of your tools, but you never forget to send your bill?"

"Yeah, I'm a real old-timer, Sam. I can remember way back when I was young and plumbers made about a dollar an hour, and most of them had calluses all over their hands."

"Sam has been spending the winters in Florida so long he wouldn't know how to fix frozen pipes anymore."

"Yes, it's a real desirable neighborhood to move into. We've got three internists living here, a surgeon, a well-to-do undertaker, a banker, a retired admiral — and two plumbers. But don't get your hopes up too high. The plumbers won't accept emergency calls except at their offices."

What do you really wish that men would do to you... leave you alone? Try it and you will have a lonely world
...no home, no neighborhood, no church, no nation.
Do you expect your employees to work for you while you forget their welfare. Do you wish others to deal kindly and generously with you? Do you demand that people be honest, truthful, and trustworthy with you?
Would you rather others be courteous, and appreciative of you and lend a helping hand when you have a hard task to do?
They who keep the Golden Rule will discover that it must work both ways. It is "the rule of God."
In every land and in every age it is the basic rule for good living. One cannot improve on it.
If you want Golden Rule treatment from others
you must give Golden Rule treatment to them.
It will work in the experiences of every man.
It is the Divine Way. The Golden Rule is still very Golden.

YOU IN THE CHURCH
THE CHURCH IN YOU

Character is a by-product of the church. It is here that young and old alike are showered with benedictions that fortify and influence for a better citizenship and a stronger democracy. In the church the ministerial are molding religious character. Statesmen today declare that the church alone can furnish leadership to handle the affairs of state in these perilous times. Then we with our children should go to the church of our choice on Sunday. "You in the Church and the Church in you" form a combination for good. Be a regular CHURCH-GOER and a daily BIBLE READER.

Testimony begins in Watergate bugging trial; witness heard

By DON McLEOD
Associa. ed Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — A Utah college student has testified at the Watergate trial that he met weekly with former White House consultant E. Howard Hunt to exchange intelligence reports on Democrats for envelopes full of money.

Thomas Gregory, a student at Brigham Young University, said he was paid for infiltrating the headquarters of Sen. Edmund S. Muskie and George McGovern, candidates for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Gregory testified that he was recruited by a friend who was soliciting agents to spy on Democratic organizations. He said a man identifying himself as E.L. Warren paid for his plane ticket to Washington from Provo, Utah, and gave him his first assignment of infiltrating the Muskie camp.

He identified "Warren" as Hunt, who pleaded guilty Thursday to all six charges against him, charges of conspiracy, burglary and illegal wiretapping and eavesdropping, in connection with a break-in at national Democratic headquarters in the Watergate complex last June 17. Trial continues for six others charged in the burglary.

Hunt told U.S. Dist. Court Judge John Sirica that the government's description of a wide-ranging political-espionage operation ordered by officials of President Nixon's campaign committee was essentially correct.

Hunt was released on $100,000 bond pending sentencing, which could be up to 30 years in prison. Later, outside the courtroom, he said: "Anything that I may have done, I did for the best of the country."

He added that to the best of his knowledge, no high-level Nixon administration officials were involved in the espionage.
Hunt's guilty plea and Gregory's testimony came as the Justice Department announced the filing of criminal charges against the Nixon campaign committee, alleging violations of federal election laws involving G. Gordon Liddy, another defendant in the burglary trial.

US HQ may be target for terrorists

By RICHARD PYLE
Associa. ed Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — Security has been tightened at the U.S. military command's headquarters on the strength of intelligence reports that Communist terrorists may try to bomb it, military sources said today.

The Command refused comment on the intelligence reports but acknowledged that "increased security precautions" have been put into effect at the headquarters compound at Tan Son Nhut Air Base.

New restrictions have been placed on vehicles allowed to enter the fenced-off compound and all which do enter are searched for explosive devices. Concealing of bombs in cars and other vehicles is a favorite tactic of the Viet Cong.

The security crackdown went into effect within the past two weeks and the intelligence on which it was based apparently was connected with earlier reports that terrorists were preparing to attack an American installation in the Saigon area around Christmas or New Year's. That attack was said to have been planned in retaliation for the accelerated U.S. bombing of the Hanoi-Haiphong area. No such attack occurred, however.

U.S. aircraft continued their raids against supply and communications routes in the panhandle of North Vietnam below the 20th parallel, and ground action in South Vietnam increased slightly, sources said.
South Vietnamese officials reported 62 enemy incidents in the 24 hours ending at 6 a.m., compared to 54 the previous day, the lowest since the New Year's truce period.

Marginal weather limited fighter-bomber strikes against North Vietnam but the Air Force's above-the-weather B52 bombers flew 36 strikes there.
The U.S. Command also reported 42 B52 strikes against a known North Vietnamese troop staging area in the Saigon River corridor between the Michelin and Lai Khe rubber plantations, 35 to 40 miles northwest of the capital.

U.S. spokesmen reported the crash of an Air Force A7 attack bomber in northeast Thailand Thursday night while returning from a combat mission. The pilot bailed out and was rescued.
In Phnom Penh, the Cambodian military command said Communist Vietnamese and Cambodian guerrillas reopened the eastern front Thursday after several months of relative inactivity by seizing three major government defensive positions along Highway 1.

Reliable military sources in Vientiane said Laotian army troops and pro-Paithet Lao forces were fighting today over positions midway between the Communist-held Sala Phou Khoun crossroads, 105 miles north of Vientiane, and the government-held town of Muong Kasi, 17 miles to the southwest.

of the Nixon campaign, and Herbert R. Porter, director of the program of surrogate speakers who did most of Nixon's campaigning last year.
Silbert said Hugh Sloan, treasurer of the President's finance committee, appropriated $250,000 for the spy operation.

Fuel shortages forces paper mill shutdown

MONROE, La. (AP) — M. H. Collett, president of Olinckraft, said Thursday that shortages of fuel and wood pulp has forced a shutdown of five of its paper mills in Louisiana and Arkansas.

Collett said the shutdown of Olinckraft mills in West Monroe, Lillie, Shreveport and Winnfield in Louisiana and at Huttig in Arkansas involve a "significant percentage of 2,600 workers."

of the adverse trumps and concede one diamond and one club.
The hand also makes game at no-trump because, while the defenders have time to set and cash their long hearts, each one holds exactly four, and two heart tricks plus two aces only give them four tricks. We make our game with three spades and two tricks in each other suit.
The Slayman gain is a mere 20 points. Almost nothing in rubber bridge, but the difference between a good score and a bad one at match points.

A—Bid six hearts. You have a sound double and a good six-card heart suit and your partner has taken you past the heart game on his own steam.

TODAY'S QUESTION
Instead of passing, West has bid four spades over your double. It is passed around to you. What do you do?

By Oswald & James Jacoby
The real test of expert use of a convention occurs when you know when not to use it. Our own rule for use of Stayman is that any time we hold a four-card major suit we use it unless our distribution is 4-3-3-3 and our suit is a bad one.
In other words, we do use Stayman any time we have a doubleton or singleton or our four-card major is a decent one.
Thus we respond two clubs with today's North hand and go right to four spades after our partner bids two.
The play at four spades is short and sweet. We win the heart lead and knock out the ace of trumps. Then we win the next heart; draw the rest
